Biographical Note

The eighth of fourteen children, Humberto Villarreal “Bert” Reyes was born on December 15, 1928 to Mexican-born Carlos Reyes Briones and Goliad, Texas native Maria Villarreal Reyes. The family lived on a farm near Berclair, where Bert attended grammar school; he later graduated from Goliad High School in 1946. Due to his outstanding livestock showmanship and academic performance, Reyes was among the first fourteen recipients of the Jesse Jones opportunity scholarship offered by Texas A&M. He majored in animal science and served as a cadet in the “C” Cavalry.

Following graduation in 1950 with a bachelor’s degree, Bert worked for Texas ranchers until being drafted the following year. After serving in Korea as a 25th Infantry Division officer, he returned to Texas A&M, where he earned a master’s degree in Beef Production in 1955. Reyes worked concurrently in Saltillo, Mexico, for the U.S. Foreign Agricultural Service as a beef specialist who advised Mexican ranchers desiring to improve the quality of their cattle. In 1956, he became the field representative for the Texas Hereford Association and developed lasting ties with prominent domestic and Mexican ranchers of purebred cattle.

In the middle of 1958, Reyes recognized that his academic and professional credentials, as well as his bilingualism, could better serve the industry if he acted as an international livestock broker and auctioneer. Bert initially based his business in Beeville, until relocating it to San Antonio in 1964. At the outset of his career, many ranchers considered the roles of sales manager and auctioneer at cattle sales to be exclusive; Reyes began accomplishing both on his own, as well as occasionally calling sales in Spanish to appeal to Mexican cattle buyers. He initially sold established purebreds such as Hereford and Angus, but also organized and led auctions for lesser-known cattle breeds such as Beefmaster, Brahman, and Charolais. In 1964, a Spanish-language newsletter for cattlemen, El Ganadero Internacional, began publication with Reyes acting as consultant.

With Bert's professional commitments and reputation growing in both the United States and Mexico, his younger brother Ruben joined the business in 1966. Their enterprise, renamed Reyes & Reyes, became the preeminent cattle auctioneering and livestock brokerage service throughout the country. In 1970, Bert became part of a syndicate that bought the first purebred Simmental bull into the United States for $154,000; this Canadian-born calf, which Reyes named Amor 1A, lived at Coddling Cattle Research facilities in Ada, Oklahoma, where his semen was sold to investors in artificial insemination programs. Also in that year, Bert became a founding member of the Texas Simmental Association, the first state organization in the country to sponsor the new breed. The Reyes Simmental Ranch, established in 1971, became one of the first of its kind in Texas. In 1973, following the passing of former President Lyndon Johnson, Bert and Ruben dispersed his herd at the LBJ Ranch. In 1974, Reyes & Reyes became the first auctioneering service to sell one million dollars of cattle at a single event, accomplishing this at the National Simmental Sale in Louisville, Kentucky.

Reyes & Reyes operated at a high level of activity during the decade, duly creating its own promotional service, National Livestock Advertising, in 1973. Henry Elder, a respected Hereford authority and livestock photographer, oversaw this business's operations until 1978. The Reyes brothers also brought on two additional auctioneers/sales managers in the late 1970s.

Despite continued success into the 1980s, a severe drought and consequent decline in cattle production and land value led to the demise of numerous ranches throughout Texas. Reyes & Reyes followed the way of other livestock businesses and ceased operating in 1987. While Bert continued to act as an occasional auctioneer for cattle sales and charity events, the 1990s and beyond saw him primarily working as a manager and livestock consultant for ranches based in Texas, Louisiana, and Mexico. He also acted as a real estate agent for American investors looking to buy and improve Mexican ranches.

Supplementing his lifelong career in the livestock industry, Bert had business interests in oil production, as well as residential and commercial land development. He maintained an enduring loyalty to Texas A&M and to his family. Reyes died in San Antonio on February 13, 2018, survived by a brother and sister, his daughter Carmelita, and two grandsons.

Scope and Content Note

The Humberto V. “Bert” Reyes Collection consists of sales records, financial documents, promotional items, correspondence, images, oral history recordings and transcripts, personal and business writings, news items, property deeds and maps, periodicals, artifacts, artwork, and ephemera, all relating to Bert’s career as a livestock broker, auctioneer, and ranch manager.

Also present are personal and family records such as correspondence, images, artifacts, manuscripts, press material and ephemera; these items document Reyes’s academic, military, and personal activities, as well as those of his parents, siblings, daughter, and professional associates.

Taken as a whole, the collection illustrates the evolution of the livestock industry and auctioneering trade in Texas, the United States, and Mexico during the second half of the twentieth century. Also present are records concerning South Texas history and the evolving historical narrative shared by the United States and Mexico, particularly with respect to the celebrated General Ignacio Zaragoza and his significance to citizens of both countries.

Note on books and periodicals

All of Reyes’s books and periodicals have been separated from the collection and are searchable through Texas A&M University-San Antonio’s library catalog. Virtually all of the periodicals are concerned with the cattle industry. The books are primarily non-fiction and survey Texas history and political figures, American history, the Korean conflict, and the livestock industry.

Note on oral history recordings

Reyes documented his family history and professional career in two separate oral histories. The first was recorded in 2016 by Reyes’s grandniece Ana Reyes-Bonar and centers on Bert’s recounting of the lives and careers of his parents and siblings; this set also contains testimony from Reyes's sister, Estella. The second oral history was recorded by Texas historian Martha Doty Freeman in 2017 and concerns Reyes's life and professional career in the livestock industry.

Detailed Description of the Collection

Humberto V. “Bert” Reyes Collection, 1928-2018

Series 1: Domestic livestock sales

These records pertain to auctions and private treaty sales of domestic purebred cattle, horses, and other livestock. Bert acted as sales manager and/or auctioneer for sales before 1966. Afterward, he and Ruben shared duties until the late 1970s, when auctioneers/sales managers Ellis Menchaca, Jr. and Anthony Mihalski joined Reyes & Reyes. Following the company’s dissolution, Bert continued to work as an auctioneer into the 2000s.

This series is divided into twelve subseries, arranged alphabetically by breed or category.

Note: Some folders do not contain evidence that Bert or a member of Reyes & Reyes was present at a particular sale due to the absence of identifying information in catalogs, promotional material, or correspondence. Items for these sales are retained in this series according to Bert’s cataloging system.

Subseries 1.1: Angus cattle

This subseries contains material relating to Angus cattle sales. Records include auction catalogs, correspondence, news clippings, sales receipts, financial documents, images, and ephemera. Folders are arranged chronologically by auction date, along with the name of the host ranch or organization, and the type of sale, if applicable.

Series 2: Historic cattle sales

This series contains material on three significant sales managed and auctioned by Reyes & Reyes. The first involved the dispersal of President Lyndon Johnson's Hereford cattle. The second was the American Simmental Association's 4th Annual National Sale in Louisville, Kentucky, an event that became the first instance of purebred cattle selling for a million dollars. The final sale concerned the 1984 liquidation of the well-known LJ Bar Beefmaster Ranch, which was most likely the largest herd of its kind in the United States.

Series 7: Business records

This series consists of financial records concerning Carlos Reyes B. & Sons and Reyes & Reyes, Inc., both of which were cattle auctioneering and private treaty firms involving members of the Reyes family and some associates. A few short-lived subsidiaries of Carlos Reyes B. & Sons existed in the mid-1960s; records are also present for these entities.

Carlos Reyes B. & Sons

Bert founded this business in 1958, acting as the general manager while his father was its president. Over the years, some of the other Reyes sons were partners until Ruben joined Bert permanently in 1966. From that point, the brothers marketed themselves as Reyes & Reyes.

Subseries 7.1: Income tax returns

This subseries contains income tax reports for Carlos Reyes B. & Sons (records for 1971 and 1972 are missing). Returns for National Livestock Advertising are present for 1975 and thereafter.

Series 9: Real estate

This series is divided into four subseries and contains records on Reyes's involvement in domestic and Mexican real estate.

Subseries 9.1: Farms and ranches

Reyes bought and leased farm and ranches in Texas, New Mexico, and Kentucky from the 1960s through the 1980s. He often purchased property with the intention of making improvements and then reselling it. Of note are records on the Tarpley Ranch in Medina County, Texas, which was the site of the Reyes Simmental Ranch during the late 1970s and early 1980s.

Series 10: Cattle industry subject files

This series contains information on the cattle industry with particular emphasis on the history of the Hereford and Simmental breeds in Texas. Material is divided into five subseries.

Subseries 10.1: Anxiety 4th and Hereford auctions

This subseries contains material on Hereford cattle sales held between the 1940s and the 1970s; Reyes had no part as sales manager or auctioneer for these events. It is important to note that the Hereford bull Anxiety 4th 9904, which was imported into the United States in 1881, is considered the “Father of American Herefords.” Those auctions containing his name feature cattle in his bloodline.

Subseries 10.2: J. O. Hood & Son Ranch

This subseries contains material on J. O. Hood cattle, which is exclusively in the Anxiety 4th line. Charles Hood, a part owner of the ranch, gave Reyes a large amount of the registration certificates pertaining to the herd. Other records concern the 3H Ranch, presumably an offshoot of J. O. Hood & Son.

Subseries 12.3: Carlos Reyes B. and family

This subseries contains records on Bert's father Carlos Reyes B., his wife Maria, and their fourteen children (excepting Bert). Carlos Reyes B. served as the President of the Comisión Honorífica Mexicana in Beeville, an organization dedicated to bettering relations between citizens of Mexican descent and the Anglo population. Some of his letters from the 1940s tell of integrating Beeville public schools. Much of the correspondence from 1958 to 1971 details his and others' efforts to have the Goliad birthplace of Mexican hero Gen. Ignacio Zaragoza designated as an historic site.

The birth order of the Reyes children is Lucas, Alvino, Tony, Rachel, Tillie, Carlos, Christine, Bert, Florinda, Estella, Mike, Martha, Pete, and Ruben. Their folders contains correspondence that they and their children wrote to Bert, as well as assorted records and images.

Series 13: Images

This series contains five subseries of photographs and negatives. Reyes's annotations on print envelopes have been photocopied for context in Subseries 13.2 through 13.5. He was the photographer for nearly all of the images taken during 2000 and afterward; these pictures follow Subseries 13.1.

Subseries 13.1: Inventoried photographs

There are 1018 images in this subseries. Reyes orally described and contextualized these photographs to Texas historian Martha Doty Freeman, who compiled and wrote the inventory. Notable auctions, Texas cattlemen and ranches, prominent purebred cattle, and Reyes's family and associates make up the subjects. Reyes and/or others annotated many pictures. Material is arranged numerically.
